Hoof Problems in Horses

What are Hoof Problems?

Hooves refer to the hard outer covering of the horse's foot. The outer and inner hoof is made up of bones and sensitive structures. The outer hoof consists of the coronet (the band around the top of the hoof where the hair stops) and hoof wall (horny exterior of the hoof).

Under the hoof is the frog (spongy, triangular portion in the center of the underside of the hoof), sole (the concave, hard and tough underside of the hoof), bars (portion of the wall that curves forward at the heel) and the white line (narrow strip where the bottom edge of the hoof wall meets the sole).

The inside of the hoof consists of the coffin bone (shaped like a hoof – held in place by the sensitive laminae and the insensitive laminae which form a bond), navicular bone (small bone which fits in the space between the short pastern and the coffin bone), short pastern (bone found above and connected to the coffin bone), and the lateral cartilage (wings of cartilage on either side of the coffin bone).

Taking care of your horse's hooves is essential because they grow about a quarter of an inch every month and should be trimmed regularly. Cleaning and caring for hooves daily as well as visiting a reputable farrier regularly will ensure that your horse's feet stay in a healthy condition.

What Causes Hoof Problems?

There are various hoof disorders that your horse may develop and these include:

- Thrush is a bacterial infection of the frog that is caused when the hooves are exposed to wet, dirty conditions. It is characterized by a foul-smelling odor with a powdery substance around the frog.
- A hoof abscess is an infection of the soft portion of the hoof and caused by a puncture wound, injury, bruise or corn. Lameness in horses is a common symptom of an abscess. Sometimes a dark spot is visible on the hoof if the abscess opens and drains.
- Corns occur when the sole at the back of the hoof becomes bruised by constant pressure to the foot. It is usually caused by improper shoeing or poor hoof trimming. When a corn develops, the sole becomes discolored and lameness occurs.
- Cracks in the hoof wall may start at the bottom and move upwards or start at the top, then move downwards. When cracks start at the bottom, they are caused by improper shoeing and trimming, extremely dry environment or training on hard surfaces. Cracks that start at the top develop as a result of abnormalities in the hoof growth.

- Laminitis also referred to as founder is described as painful inflammation of the foot. It develops in the front feet but can also affect the hind feet when circulation is disrupted. This condition is caused by overeating, foot injury, colic or certain steroid medications. Symptoms can develop slowly or rapidly – unwillingness to move forward, difficulty in walking and prefers to lie down most of the time.
- Contracted heels are characterized by narrowing of the foot, and the frog shrinks and the heels are contracted in. This condition is due to unbalanced feet such as overgrown hooves, long toe or low heels, injury as well as improper shoeing and poor hoof trimming.
- Navicular disease is characterized by inflammation and degeneration of the navicular bone (the small bone inside the foot and the tendon which passes over it). It is caused by genetics, poor conformation, improper nutrition and the continual impact of the toe on hard surfaces. Warning signs to watch for include lameness that progresses gradually, front feet are affected and the toe becomes worn when it hits the ground.
- Seedy toe is a condition described as separation of the hoof wall at the white line in the toe area. The inside of the hoof starts disintegrating and becomes crumbly even though the outside appears to be healthy. It is usually develops as a result of poor foot care and laminitis.
- White line disease occurs when the protein of horse's inner hoof breaks down as a result of a bacterial or fungal infection. The hoof wall and sole become powdery and crumbly and then separates from the wall and the sole.

Natural Remedies

Natural and holistic treatments have proven to be highly effective in maintaining the health of your horse's hooves. Herbs, essential oils and homeopathic remedies are safe and gentle to use without unwanted side effects.

Carefully selected ingredients such as Linseed oil (Flaxseed oil), White willow, Horsetail (Equisetum arvense L.) and Comfrey contain soothing properties that helps to support skin health. In addition, Marigold (Calendula officinalis L.), Lavender and Arnica acts as an antiseptic and anti-inflammatory agent for bruises, aches, sprains and injury such as equine lameness and promotes healing and recovery.

Tips to avoid hoof problems

There are several things that can be done to avoid hoof problems in horses and these include:

- Feed your horse an all natural diet without preservatives, additives and colorants
- Exercise your horse regularly to ensure overall fitness and health, and also to prevent dry hooves
- Visit a good farrier – this is very important as he will be able to recommend the proper shoes and inspect your horse's hooves depending on where he was stabled and he is ridden
- Trim or shoe your horse's hooves every six weeks using a skilled farrier
- Pick the hooves out daily using a hoof pick

All of our natural remedies are formulated by our expert team of herbalists, naturopaths and homeopaths, and headed by Michele Carelse.

Michele has had years of experience in the manufacturing and use of natural remedies for both people and pets. In addition, she is a trained Clinical Psychologist and has been incorporating natural remedies into her treatment of patients with depression, anxiety, ADD, ADHD and stress for many years with spectacular results.

- When inspecting your horse's hooves, place your back to the horse's hooves so that you can get the best possible view of the hoof
- Keep all areas where your horse stands dry and clean. Avoid wet footing as it can cause thrush and soft hooves
- Make sure the horse's feet are fitted properly with shoes and pads
- Incorporate a biotin supplement to your horse's diet to promote the growth and development of healthy hooves

The Natural Approach

While Western medicine has become the norm in many cultures, it is not the only treatment option. Conventional western medicine, often called allopathic medicine, is the system of medicine taught at most medical schools and most pharmaceutical and synthetic medicines are manufactured and marketed according to the principles of allopathic medicine. Allopathic medicine is also sometimes called orthodox medicine.

Because most of us in the Western world have grown up in a society in which allopathic medicine is the prevailing norm, we forget that, only a few decades ago, homeopathic, herbal and other natural medicines were commonly available – and freely used even by conventional doctors and veterinarians. While there are often heated debates about which system of medicine is 'better' than the other, many responsible doctors and vets (whether they are allopathic or not) recognize that both have a role to play in the treatment program.

Just like humans, domesticated animals like dogs and cats are affected by the health hazards of modern living. Pollution, poor nutrition, stress and unhealthy lifestyles can lead to a variety of illnesses and conditions that are very similar to those experienced by humans. In fact, many, if not most pet health concerns can be addressed by helping your pets to live a healthier lifestyle. While it has its place, conventional medicine for animals and 'modern technology' have failed our pets in many ways.

According to pet expert and author CJ Puotinen, most holistic veterinarians and animal health care professions list annual vaccinations and commercial pet foods as the major contributory cause in the rising rates of chronic illness in pets today. Similarly, Juliette de Bairacli Levy, respected author and renowned animal breeder, points out that contrary to the belief that mass vaccination and antibiotic use will contribute to a decrease in disease, the opposite has in fact proved true. Like their human counterparts, today's pets are becoming more and more vulnerable to chronic disease and ill health. This has led many veterinarians to search for alternatives and to espouse more holistic methods of keeping our pets healthy.

"In the wild, animals instinctively seek out healing herbs to help them when they are ill or undernourished. In fact, Asclepius, the ancient Greek god of medicine, respected dogs very highly for their ability to seek out and eat medicinal herbs in the wild. This ability is shared by other animals, including cats. We are coming to realize that nature often has the answers - but animals have always known this! Natural medicine can help your pet just as it can help you. While there is always a place for conventional veterinary medicine, natural medicine can compliment conventional veterinary care and in many cases do just as well. I have applied the same care and research that have gone into our Native Remedies range for adults and children to the development of pet-friendly, safe and effective natural remedies for animals. As always, all remedies are formulated to the highest therapeutic standards and manufactured under strict pharmaceutical conditions for your peace of mind and the well being of your pets. " Michele Carelse, Clinical Psychologist.

"When a veterinary surgeon practices the use of homeopathic medicine and is asked why he does so, he may give one of several answers. The simple answer would be that the results are good, an emphatic answer would be that homeopathic treatment has no unpleasant or dangerous side effects, while still achieving successful results.

With the increasing popularity of aromatherapy, reflexology, color & crystal therapy and a return to a more holistic lifestyle, people have begun searching for ways to earn more money; expand their skills; improve the health of themselves, friends & family; and increase their knowledge of alternative medicine.

The Alternative Healing Academy has developed several new courses in the holistic health care field for those who would like the opportunity to learn a healing modality at their own pace and in their own homes.

A Doctor of Reflexology with The Alternative Healing Academy is teaching classes with curriculum very similar to the Reflexology Practitioner Course and the Basic Aromatherapy at her local community college.

Our holistic health courses were developed by professionals in the Holistic Health Care field trained in the following modalities: Aromatherapy, Advanced/Master Aromatherapy, Reiki, Tuning Fork Therapy, Color and Crystal Therapy, Homeopathy, Herbalism, and Advanced Reflexology.

Furthermore, since we at the Alternative Healing Academy also realize that not everyone wants to make alternative medicine a career choice, we also offer basic courses as well as several Mini Courses which will teach you the skills you need to help improve the health and quality of life for yourself, your family and your friends.

Common Questions Asked About Holistic Health Distance Learning Courses:

What is Certification?

Most schools will offer an exam that tests the student's knowledge of the material taught in the respective course. Upon successful completion of this exam, a Certificate or Diploma will be issued by the school attesting that the student has successfully met the requirements as specified by that school. The only governmental recognition of Aromatherapy in North America is the occupational title designation granted to the BCAA under the Societies Act of British Columbia.

What is a Certified Aromatherapist or Reflexologist?

Most prospective students want to know whether taking our courses will lead to their becoming 'Certified' in that healing modality, thereby leading to the title of Certified Aromatherapist, Certified Reflexologist or Certified Color/Crystal Therapist. The answer to this really depends on what you mean by 'Certified.' We believe it can be misleading to purport that completing a course in a healing modality such as reflexology, aromatherapy or color/crystal therapy will lead to a designation of 'Certified' Therapist. These are not official title designations nor are they ones which are recognized by any country's governmental body. All that these titles mean is that this is what an Individual Instructor, School or Institution decided to put on the Diploma it awards those who successfully complete their course.

What is an accredited course in Aromatherapy or Reflexology?

The answer to this will depend on who you are asking. At the present time, British Columbia is the only government to recognize Aromatherapy as a distinct profession and has granted Occupational Title Protection to the members of the BCAA (British Columbia Alliance of Aromatherapy) with the exclusive right for its members to call themselves Registered Aromatherapists (R.A.).

At this time, neither Reflexology nor Color/Crystal Therapy have such occupational designations in any country although one prominent Reflexology school in Colorado, The Modern Institute of Reflexology, has gained occupational designation for their institution in that state. MIR has been designated by the Colorado State Division of Private Occupational Schools - Dept. of Higher Education as an approved school. Our Reflexologist who developed the reflexology modules for our courses was trained at MIR as a Certified Reflexologist, a Master Reflexologist and a Dr. of Reflexology.

In the United States, the NAHA (National Association for Holistic Aromatherapy) has put into place their Approved Standards for Aromatherapy Training. The Alternative Healing Academy's Advanced Aromatherapy course meets and exceeds these standards and we are in the application process of becoming an approved program through the NAHA.

In Canada, there are a number of different Associations including the BCAPA (British Columbia Association of Practicing Aromatherapists) and the CFA (Canadian Federation of Aromatherapists). Time will tell if one authoritative body or association becomes the standard by which to judge and govern the educational offerings of these alternative healing modalities.

It has to be noted that NO form of aromatherapy "certification" is currently recognized in the USA by anyone other than those in the trade, nor is aromatherapy (or essential oils in the aromatherapy trade) regulated by any governmental body.

Some information about the courses we offer:

1) You can receive the course in one of two ways: A cd with the modules and tests in PDF format can be shipped to you; or, The modules can be emailed to you three at a time. Each time you complete the tests for the current three modules, a new set of three modules will be emailed to you.

2) All modules are clearly explained, are in pdf format and fully illustrated.

3) The Advanced Aromatherapy Practitioner and the Advanced Reflexology Practitioner courses are designed to meet the National Association for Holistic Aromatherapy (NAHA) guidelines.

4) A tutor will be available via email to answer any questions you may have.

You will be contacted after purchase to find out how you would like your course delivered. All tests for the course can be either emailed or snail-mailed to The Alternative Healing Academy.

Upon successful completion of any full diploma or certification course (with a score of 80% or higher), you will receive a beautiful Diploma, suitable for framing.

Course Testimonials

"I'm done! Going through the final and the case studies and having such amazing experiences and opportunities to help people, I truly feel blessed and honored to have had the intense education that came with this course. I discovered in me a new ability to serve others, not only through education but through the power of healing that comes with the use of essential oils. I am continuing to train personally with Alexandria Brighton and have begun work toward opening an aromatherapy practice. Thank you so much for your patience and knowledge. Most of all thank you for this new way of living and enjoying Life."

-A. Lindquist - Advanced Aromatherapy Practitioner

"I am finding the course great. It is written very well so even people like me can understand the human body a whole lot better. I just hope that I can remember it all. I don't think I have a chance of remembering the names of everything in the muscular system or the movement system. But, I do have more of an understanding of how everything works now. I find it just amazing. Thanks Heaps."

-M. Oliver - Basic Anatomy & Physiology

"This information is great that you are teaching. I would really like to talk my oldest daughter into taking your course. It really goes into detail which is very informative."

-Debbie F. - Basic Reflexology

"Seven years ago I started to see a reflexologist for migraines and sinus problems. I was amazed that I finally found relief without medication. I decided this year to search out a course in reflexology so I could help family and friends and show them the benefits of reflexology. I researched various courses on the internet and decided to go with the basic course through the Alternative Healing Academy. I was impressed with course material and the ease of receiving the course material."

"I was given an choice of having a CD sent to me or to receiving and sending back the assignments through email. I choose email. I received 3 lessons at a time that I could read and study on my own time frame and return the lessons when I was done. Everything was sent in a very timely manner and communication was open and quick. If I needed help, I knew it was only a click away and the response time was very quick. The techniques used also came in a video mode in the email that I could replay as much as I needed to."

"I felt I learned a lot and am able to help myself and others. Being able to log 20 hours of treatment time and writing the case histories for the final exam was extremely rewarding and helpful. I would recommend this course to others interested in reflexology because the course material was very informative and complete and written in easy to understand language."

-Jean Russell - Basic Reflexology Course

"I'm so excited about (the Advanced Aromatherapy course) and I'm particularly excited about the possibility of making custom blends for people! I hadn't anticipated having that opportunity when I took the course so I'm excited to have everything done! I'm very excited to have finished. I really enjoyed this course and really appreciate all the work you've put into it! This has been a fabulous jumping off point for me and I'm so glad I took it."

"p.s. I know the boys are much slower at the Reflexology, but my son is loving the classes."
