Pet Parvovirus

What is Parvovirus?

Parvovirus is a highly contagious viral infection that affects dogs of any age, breed or sex. This virus first appeared in 1978, and as result, there was a widespread epidemic and dogs of all ages were infected and died. No vaccines for this virus existed at the time, but the virus has since changed and other strains have appeared.

Parvovirus can manifest itself in three ways – intestinal, cardiac and asymptomatic. It attacks the intestines and causes sloughing of the cells that line the inner layers of the intestinal tract. The virus can attack the heart muscle and result in death. Although the cardiac form of parvovirus is severe, it is less common and occurs in young puppies less than 8 weeks old.

Older dogs are also more susceptible to parvovirus infection, as well certain breeds such as Dobermans, Rottweilers, German Shepherds and Pitbulls. If left untreated, parvovirus can lead to serious health complications such as a weakened immune system, congestive heart failure or fluid in the lungs.

What Causes Parvovirus?

Parvovirus is found in feces and spread through direct transmission of viral particles when an infected dog comes into contact with other dogs. When a dog sniffs where another dog has defecated, the virus is transmitted easily. It may also be transmitted indirectly through clothing, bedding, food bowls and kennel floors.

This virus is resistant to extreme temperatures and has the ability to survive in hot or cold conditions. The transmission of the virus can occur three weeks after the dog has become infected and can linger in the environment for as long 6 months. A dog can, however, be a source of infection to other dogs without it having observable signs of illness (the disease may be incubating).

Parvo is usually spread from dog to dog by direct contact (in parks, dog shows, kennels, pet shops, and the like) or by contact with infected feces. People can contribute to the spread of the disease by tracking fecal matter on their shoes. Since the virus can survive a wide range of temperatures and live outside the animal for months, it's extremely tough to eradicate. That's why vaccination is so important.

Diagnosing Parvovirus

The diagnosis of parvovirus is based on the symptoms, a complete physical examination and review of the pet's medical history. A fecal Parvo (ELISA) test and other diagnostic tests such as blood tests and x-rays are taken to confirm the diagnosis of parvovirus infection.

Symptoms and signs

The common symptoms and signs of parvovirus include:

- Vomiting
- Diarrhea
- Loss of appetite
- Dehydration
- Lethargy
- Fever

When the disease worsens, vomit and diarrhea contain blood. The puppy may go into shock, experience breathing difficulties, low body temperature and even death.

Help for Parvovirus

Treatment involves preventing a secondary bacterial infection and controlling symptoms. Mild episodes of parvovirus may be treated with early fluid therapy and antibiotics. Hospitalization of your pet is usually required where intravenous fluids, and anti-vomiting and pain medications are administered.

Vaccinating your puppy at an early age, typically 6 to 8 weeks, and then repeating 3 to 4 weeks until the puppy is 16 to 18 weeks old is extremely effective in providing immunity against infection. Check with your vet about follow up vaccines, as they may range from yearly to every three years.

As a pet owner, you should practice good sanitation measures such as minimizing your pet's contact with other dogs and their stool and disinfecting their sleeping areas, bowls and toys.

Natural remedies

Natural and holistic remedies have been used for centuries as a gentler alternative to conventional treatments. Herbal and homeopathic remedies are safe and effective to use and benefits the overall health and well-being of your pet.

Herbs such as Zingiber officinale (Ginger) and Agrimonia eupatoria (Agrimony) support the balance of digestive acids and fluids, and soothe the digestive tract. Homeopathic ingredients, such as Arsen alb, Verat. alb, Belladonna, and Parvo support the digestive system, as well as fluid and temperature balance in the body.

Tips to Prevent Parvovirus

Certain precautions can be taken to prevent parvovirus and these include:

- Vaccinate your puppy when he is 6 weeks old and continue until he is 16 to 20 weeks old. Follow with vaccination every 3 years to protect your dog against infection

- Avoid exposing your puppy to places such as parks, pet stores, that infected dogs may frequent or where dog poop is accessible
- Keep your puppy away from unvaccinated puppies and dogs, and allow him to interact with dogs that you are sure have been vaccinated
- If your puppy has developed parvovirus, keep him isolated from other dogs
- Maintain good hygiene and cleanliness for both you and your pet by picking up dog stools daily
- Disinfect food and water bowls as well as paved areas, your pet's sleeping environment and bedding regularly
- Inspect your dog's stool to check for any abnormalities
- Wash your hands thoroughly after handling dogs

The Natural Approach

While Western medicine has become the norm in many cultures, it is not the only treatment option. Conventional western medicine, often called allopathic medicine, is the system of medicine taught at most medical schools and most pharmaceutical and synthetic medicines are manufactured and marketed according to the principles of allopathic medicine. Allopathic medicine is also sometimes called orthodox medicine.

Because most of us in the Western world have grown up in a society in which allopathic medicine is the prevailing norm, we forget that, only a few decades ago, homeopathic, herbal and other natural medicines were commonly available – and freely used even by conventional doctors and veterinarians. While there are often heated debates about which system of medicine is 'better' than the other, many responsible doctors and vets (whether they are allopathic or not) recognize that both have a role to play in the treatment program.

Just like humans, domesticated animals like dogs and cats are affected by the health hazards of modern living. Pollution, poor nutrition, stress and unhealthy lifestyles can lead to a variety of illnesses and conditions that are very similar to those experienced by humans. In fact, many, if not most pet health concerns can be addressed by helping your pets to live a healthier lifestyle. While it has its place, conventional medicine for animals and 'modern technology' have failed our pets in many ways.

According to pet expert and author CJ Puotinen, most holistic veterinarians and animal health care professions list annual vaccinations and commercial pet foods as the major contributory cause in the rising rates of chronic illness in pets today. Similarly, Juliette de Bairacli Levy, respected author and renowned animal breeder, points out that contrary to the belief that mass vaccination and antibiotic use will contribute to a decrease in disease, the opposite has in fact proved true. Like their human counterparts, today's pets are becoming more and more vulnerable to chronic disease and ill health. This has led many veterinarians to search for alternatives and to espouse more holistic methods of keeping our pets healthy.

"In the wild, animals instinctively seek out healing herbs to help them when they are ill or undernourished. In fact, Asclepius, the ancient Greek god of medicine, respected dogs very highly for their ability to seek out and eat medicinal herbs in the wild. This ability is shared by other animals, including cats. We are coming to realize that nature often has the answers - but animals have always known this!

Natural medicine can help your pet just as it can help you. While there is always a place for conventional veterinary medicine, natural medicine can compliment conventional veterinary care and in many cases do just as well. I have applied the same care and research that have gone into our Native Remedies range for adults and children to the development of pet-friendly, safe and effective natural remedies for animals. As always, all remedies are formulated to the highest therapeutic standards and manufactured under strict pharmaceutical conditions for your peace of mind and the well being of your pets. " Michele Carelse, Clinical Psychologist.

"When a veterinary surgeon practices the use of homeopathic medicine and is asked why he does so, he may give one of several answers. The simple answer would be that the results are good, an emphatic answer would be that homeopathic treatment has no unpleasant or dangerous side effects, while still achieving successful results.

The PetAlive Homeopathic range has been formulated with this knowledge and is specifically designed to treat your pet in a holistic and natural manner."

Common Questions Asked About Holistic Health Distance Learning Courses:

What is Certification?

Most schools will offer an exam that tests the student's knowledge of the material taught in the respective course. Upon successful completion of this exam, a Certificate or Diploma will be issued by the school attesting that the student has successfully met the requirements as specified by that school. The only governmental recognition of Aromatherapy in North America is the occupational title designation granted to the BCAA under the Societies Act of British Columbia.

What is a Certified Aromatherapist or Reflexologist?

Most prospective students want to know whether taking our courses will lead to their becoming 'Certified' in that healing modality, thereby leading to the title of Certified Aromatherapist, Certified Reflexologist or Certified Color/Crystal Therapist. The answer to this really depends on what you mean by 'Certified.' We believe it can be misleading to purport that completing a course in a healing modality such as reflexology, aromatherapy or color/crystal therapy will lead to a designation of 'Certified' Therapist. These are not official title designations nor are they ones which are recognized by any country's governmental body. All that these titles mean is that this is what an Individual Instructor, School or Institution decided to put on the Diploma it awards those who successfully complete their course.

What is an accredited course in Aromatherapy or Reflexology?

The answer to this will depend on who you are asking. At the present time, British Columbia is the only government to recognize Aromatherapy as a distinct profession and has granted Occupational Title Protection to the members of the BCAA (British Columbia Alliance of Aromatherapy) with the exclusive right for its members to call themselves Registered Aromatherapists (R.A.).

At this time, neither Reflexology nor Color/Crystal Therapy have such occupational designations in any country although one prominent Reflexology school in Colorado, The Modern Institute of Reflexology, has gained occupational designation for their institution in that state. MIR has been designated by the Colorado State Division of Private Occupational Schools - Dept. of Higher Education as an approved school. Our Reflexologist who developed the reflexology modules for our courses was trained at MIR as a Certified Reflexologist, a Master Reflexologist and a Dr. of Reflexology.

In the United States, the NAHA (National Association for Holistic Aromatherapy) has put into place their Approved Standards for Aromatherapy Training. The Alternative Healing Academy's Advanced Aromatherapy course meets and exceeds these standards and we are in the application process of becoming an approved program through the NAHA.

In Canada, there are a number of different Associations including the BCAPA (British Columbia Association of Practicing Aromatherapists) and the CFA (Canadian Federation of Aromatherapists). Time will tell if one authoritative body or association becomes the standard by which to judge and govern the educational offerings of these alternative healing modalities.

It has to be noted that NO form of aromatherapy "certification" is currently recognized in the USA by anyone other than those in the trade, nor is aromatherapy (or essential oils in the aromatherapy trade) regulated by any governmental body.

Some information about the courses we offer:

1) You can receive the course in one of two ways: A cd with the modules and tests in PDF format can be shipped to you; or, The modules can be emailed to you three at a time. Each time you complete the tests for the current three modules, a new set of three modules will be emailed to you.

2) All modules are clearly explained, are in pdf format and fully illustrated.

3) The Advanced Aromatherapy Practitioner and the Advanced Reflexology Practitioner courses are designed to meet the National Association for Holistic Aromatherapy (NAHA) guidelines.

4) A tutor will be available via email to answer any questions you may have.

You will be contacted after purchase to find out how you would like your course delivered. All tests for the course can be either emailed or snail-mailed to The Alternative Healing Academy.

Upon successful completion of any full diploma or certification course (with a score of 80% or higher), you will receive a beautiful Diploma, suitable for framing.

Course Testimonials

"I'm done! Going through the final and the case studies and having such amazing experiences and opportunities to help people, I truly feel blessed and honored to have had the intense education that came with this course. I discovered in me a new ability to serve others, not only through education but through the power of healing that comes with the use of essential oils. I am continuing to train personally with Alexandria Brighton and have begun work toward opening an aromatherapy practice. Thank you so much for your patience and knowledge. Most of all thank you for this new way of living and enjoying Life."

-A. Lindquist - Advanced Aromatherapy Practitioner

"I am finding the course great. It is written very well so even people like me can understand the human body a whole lot better. I just hope that I can remember it all. I don't think I have a chance of remembering the names of everything in the muscular system or the movement system. But, I do have more of an understanding of how everything works now. I find it just amazing. Thanks Heaps."

-M. Oliver - Basic Anatomy & Physiology

"This information is great that you are teaching. I would really like to talk my oldest daughter into taking your course. It really goes into detail which is very informative."

-Debbie F. - Basic Reflexology

"Seven years ago I started to see a reflexologist for migraines and sinus problems. I was amazed that I finally found relief without medication. I decided this year to search out a course in reflexology so I could help family and friends and show them the benefits of reflexology. I researched various courses on the internet and decided to go with the basic course through the Alternative Healing Academy. I was impressed with course material and the ease of receiving the course material."

"I was given an choice of having a CD sent to me or to receiving and sending back the assignments through email. I choose email. I received 3 lessons at a time that I could read and study on my own time frame and return the lessons when I was done. Everything was sent in a very timely manner and communication was open and quick. If I needed help, I knew it was only a click away and the response time was very quick. The techniques used also came in a video mode in the email that I could replay as much as I needed to."

"I felt I learned a lot and am able to help myself and others. Being able to log 20 hours of treatment time and writing the case histories for the final exam was extremely rewarding and helpful. I would recommend this course to others interested in reflexology because the course material was very informative and complete and written in easy to understand language."

-Jean Russell - Basic Reflexology Course

"I'm so excited about (the Advanced Aromatherapy course) and I'm particularly excited about the possibility of making custom blends for people! I hadn't anticipated having that opportunity when I took the course so I'm excited to have everything done! I'm very excited to have finished. I really enjoyed this course and really appreciate all the work you've put into it! This has been a fabulous jumping off point for me and I'm so glad I took it."

"p.s. I know the boys are much slower at the Reflexology, but my son is loving the classes."
